Organizers:

Jamein Cunningham (University of Texas-Austin)

Cody Tuttle (University of Texas-Austin)

Call for Papers:

The Texas Economics of Crime Workshop (TxECW) will bring together scholars from Texas and beyond, to discuss cutting-edge research from the vibrant economics of crime field. It will include presentations of working papers related to criminal behavior and the criminal justice system.

Topics of interest include (but are not limited to):

- Crime prevention
- Policing
- Court processes and judge behavior
- Incarceration
- Prisoner reentry
- Labor market dynamics for people with criminal records
- How to reduce racial disparities in the criminal justice system
- Effects of healthcare access on criminal behavior
- Intergenerational effects of criminal justice involvement

To submit a paper for consideration, please use the following link: TxECWSubmissions or email it in PDF format to Cody Tuttle (cody.tuttle@utexas.edu) with the subject line "TxECW submission". Papers should include an abstract and should not yet be published.

The submission deadline is December 1, 2023. Authors of accepted papers will be notified by January 1, 2024. Limited travel funding may be available for conference participants (i.e., presenters and discussants).
